SHARE DACHL User Workshop 2027

Munich, Germany | 28-29 January 2027

Call for Papers

The SHARE country teams of Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Luxembourg invite you to the SHARE DACHL User Workshop 2027, a platform for researchers to present and discuss innovative work using data from the Survey of Health, Ageing and Retirement in Europe \(SHARE\).

An ageing population has the potential to present both challenges and opportunities for Europe. This workshop will explore how SHARE data can illuminate key issues, such as the digital transformation of retirement, sustainable old-age and long-term care, healthy ageing, and growing inequalities in income, wealth, and health – as well as benefits from increased longevity and social transformation. We welcome abstracts addressing these themes, as well as related topics, through empirical research, methodological advancements, or policy-relevant insights – with a focus on the social, economic, and health dynamics that shape the lives of older adults. We also invite presentations on country-specific topics, such as ‘Measures for a longer working life in Austria’. We especially encourage comparative analyses, interdisciplinary approaches, and studies on vulnerable groups.

Workshop Format

The two-day event will feature a keynote by Prof. Dr. Fabian Pfeffer (Director, Munich International Stone Center for Inequality Research), up to 12 oral presentations, and a poster session. The workshop will be held in English. Designed for 30–40 participants, the workshop will foster interactive discussions and networking.

Registration and Submission Guidelines

Please register for participation via the registration page. Abstracts (max. 300 words) should outline the research objectives, methods, (preliminary) results, and implications, as far as they are available. Submit your abstract as a PDF file via the registration page by 15 November 2026. Notification of acceptance will be sent by 15 December 2026.

Venue

The workshop will be held at the Munich International Stone Center for Inequality Research (ISI), Ohmstraße 8, 80802 Munich, Germany. We will start at around noon on the first day and finish in the early afternoon on the second day.

Contact

For questions, please contact the organising team by email (info@share-umfrage.de). We look forward to your contributions and to advancing our understanding of ageing in Europe together.
