1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Introduction to SHARE-ERIC

The Survey of Health, Ageing and Retirement in Europe (SHARE) is a multidisciplinary and cross-national panel database of micro data of individuals aged 50 and over. Investigating the relationships between health, economic position and social participation as people age is one of the most important research questions facing the policy community.

SHARE has the status as a European Research Infrastructure Consortium (ERIC). This gives it legal personality and capacity in all EU Member States and other partner countries of the ERIC as well as some of the tax exemptions (e.g. VAT) enjoyed by international treaty organisations and permits lean procurement procedures.

Since 2014 the seat of SHARE-ERIC has been in Munich, where its central coordination ("SHARE Coordination") has been located at the Munich Center for the Economics of Aging (MEA) as part of the Max Planck Institute for Social Law and Social Policy, Germany. From 2023 onwards, the SHARE Coordination will be located at the newly founded SHARE BERLIN Institute GmbH (SBI), while the SHARE-ERIC headquarters will remain in Munich.

1.2 Scope of the work

SHARE has previously collected nine waves of data, where most of the questions provided information about the circumstances of respondents' lives at the time of the interview or in their childhood. Due to the outbreak of the Corona virus in March 2020 all face-to-face interviews needed to be stopped and instead a Corona telephone survey was conducted. These necessary measures also had consequences on SHARE's ninth wave, where a second Corona telephone survey was conducted.

SHARE's tenth wave shall tie again to earlier waves. It collects health variables (e.g. self-reported health, physical and cognitive functioning, use of health care facilities), psychological variables (e.g. well-being, life satisfaction, control beliefs), economic variables (e.g. work activity, income, retirement behaviour, wealth and consumption), social support variables, (e.g. family and social network, family support, intergenerational transfers of money and time). As in previous waves the questionnaire includes mainly closed questions as well as physical and mental health tests. The data will be available free of charge to the scientific research community.

1.3 Indicative procedure timetable

The indicative time table for the procurement process presented below is intended as a guide and, whilst SHARE-ERIC does not intend to depart from the timetable, it reserves the right for SHARE-ERIC to do so at any time.
